Partners for Women and Justice Receives $5,000 Grant from Investors Foundation

Partners for Women and Justice, a Bloomfield based non-profit, recently received a $5,000 grant from Investors Foundation. The grant will support Partners' work to provide free legal assistance to low-income victims and survivors of domestic violence. The heightened prevalence and severity of domestic violence during the COVID-19 pandemic has created a greater demand for Partners' services.

"We are very excited to be partnering with Investors Foundation and grateful for their support of our work in providing free legal assistance to low-income domestic violence and sexual assault victims," says Executive Director, Julie A. Murphy.

About Partners for Women and Justice

Partners for Women and Justice is a 501(c)(3) organization. Since its founding in 2002, Partners has helped thousands of victims and their children secure orders of protection, child support awards and safe visitation and custody arrangements. Partners' programs provide technical and procedural advice, counsel and legal advice, pro bono legal representation and referrals. Partners strives to empower victims to assert control over their own lives and take steps to protect themselves and their children.
